Re: CFTC v Moncada

Dear Richard:

Not being a technical expert, I experienced difficulty in downloading the massive amount of data that you forwarded to me in June. If you recall I needed a second hard drive since I lost some data from the first hard drive. Once downloaded it took me a significant amount of time to sort and organize the relevant data. It wasn't until last week that I was able to begin analyzing the data in anticipation of writing my expert report. I expect that my analysis should be concluded in the near future and that I should then be able to deliver my expert report no later than the end of September.

Sincerely yours,

Steven E. Wollack
